

Curriculum Vitae

Name: Zibin Guo

Degree: Ph.D.

Affiliation: University of Tennessee Chattanooga, United States

Position Title: Professor of Medical Anthropology

Education/Training

Post-doctor Training - Harvard Medical School (USA) – Social Medicine

Doctor Degree – University of Connecticut (USA) – Medical Anthropology

Master Degree – University of Connecticut (USA) – Education with the specialization in working with vulnerable population

Bachelor Degree – Nanjing University (PRC) – Education with specialization in Chinese Martial Arts including Taijiquan

Positions and Scientific Appointments

Lecturer: Harvard Medical School, Social Medicine

Dean of Clinical Studies: New England School of Acupuncture USA)

Department Head: University of Tennessee Chattanooga (USA)

UC Foundation Professor of Medical Anthropology: University of Tennessee Chattanooga

Honors

2019 Citation of Merit. University of Tennessee President’s Award

2009 “Most Innovative Special Populations Research Award”. 2009 International Tai Chi Chuan Symposium at Vanderbilt University

2008 Citation of Contribution: The 29th Olympics & the 13 Paralympics Preparation Committee

Selected Publication

- A Force of Four Ounce – Adaptive Tai Chi Chuan. Shambhala Publications, 2025.
- Ginseng and Aspirin: Health Care Alternatives of Aging Chinese in New York City. New York: Cornell University Press, 2000.
- “Thirteen Postures of Wheelchair Taijiquan: Wheelchair Use as an Instrument of Empowerment.” Journal of Technology and Innovation - Proceedings of the National Academy of Inventors. 13(4): Pp. 267-279. 2012.